

Retirement Oath

I, (insert name), have served Ranger Club for a long while, and now it is my time to take a step back. I have spent many years here, and now I shall resign with honor. Retiring is not quitting. If I am needed I must come back. I am a honored member still, and people respectfully acknowledge me as an experienced person to call on if needed.

If someone comes to me I may help them in the ways they need whether it be food, aid, supplies or knowledge, and they must show proper respect. In dire straits, the Ranger hand symbol is to be shown to prove identity. If someone quits, it is my Duty to assist them until the Days of Redemption.

I have dutifully served, and I am retiring today. Another will take my place in this club. I will keep this promise until I fly away to the great beyond. My duty is forever here. I step down here. (Bow head and step back)
